Only 4 Bodies Are Removed From Blimp's Sunken Hulk

LAKEHURST, N. J. (AP)—With a full moon lighting the sea, the Navy stayed up all night to look for more bodies in an airship that fell into the Atlantic 15 miles off Barnegat Inlet.

Helmeted divers splashed over the side of the Salvager, a salvage lifting vessel that took charge of operations at the crash scene.

Twenty-one officers and men were aboard a Navy ZPG-3W blimp, out searching for a lost yacht Wednesday. The blimp buckled and dropped into the ocean in a tangled mass. Four survivors were picked up and one of them died later. The other 17 were missing.

Two More Days

The bodies of four of the missing were brought up from 100 feet of water by divers Friday.

Lt. Cmdr. F. P. Jordan, skipper of the Salvager and officer in charge of the operation, said that — weather permitting — it would take another two days to bring up the wreckage and end the salvage operation.

Jordan said he believed no more bodies would be found in the blimp's gondola. Some might be tangled in a cable that wrapped itself around the mass of metal and fabric when the airship fell.

Strewn Over Wide Area

The jumble of what once was a hulking blimp lies on the ocean floor, strewn over an area 100 feet long and 30 or 40 feet wide. The wreckage weighs about four tons.

The four bodies recovered were those of:

Airman Henry V. Godbold of Conway, S. C.; Aviation machinist mate 3C Steve B. Thompson of Spartansburg, S. C.; Lt. (J.G.) Richard V. Hall of Beachwood, N. J., and Richard, Wash., and Lt. Richard H. Clapper, 27, of (Camp Pinehurst Estates) Lakehurst and Meshoppen, Pa.

DDD Phone Service Begins On Sunday

United Telephone's new Direct Distance Dialing will begin Sunday at 3:01 a.m.

Under the new system, well publicized through lecture-demonstrations before service clubs and other groups, local telephone patrons can dial most of their station to station long distance calls with the speed and ease of dialing a local call. A total of 42 million telephones in 42 states, five Canadian provinces and the District of Columbia are on the network.

Nearby points not yet available by direct dialing include York, Littlestown, York Springs and Chambersburg. These will be added in the future.

DDD is for station to station long distance calls only. To make person to person, credit card and other special types of calls the procedure remains the same as in the past.

COUNT 1,850 IN PLAY AREAS IN LAST 4 DAYS

Attendance at the Gettysburg playground for the four-day week ending Friday was 1,850, slightly under last year's total. Chester T. Hilger director announced.

But July 4 last year fell on a Saturday. So in comparison, there was an increase in attendance. This week's figure was 486 less than the previous five days. Good weather prevailed for a first time since the summer playgrounds opened a month ago.

It was believed that the cherry picking season had something to do with the smaller number for the week.

Belgium Hurries Combat Troops To Quiet Natives After Mutinies In Congo

BRAZZAVILLE, Congo (AP)—Belgium rushed combat troops to the Congo today to help African authorities in the new republic maintain an uneasy truce with mutinous native soldiers.

Panic-stricken white settlers told of rape, riot and humiliation at the hands of Negro soldiers. Several thousand whites—mostly women and children—fled. Then a nighttime curfew was clamped on Leopoldville and the city was reported quiet.

The refugees came across the swirling Congo River by ferry from Leopoldville, capital of the new Congo Republic, to Brazzaville, capital of this autonomous territory soon to gain independence from France.

Plane Transportation

Others landed by plane in Luanza, capital of neighboring Portuguese Angola. Commercial airlines joined in an airlift from the Congo, whose 13 million people gained independence from Belgium 10 days ago.

Congolese soldiers invaded the embassy seeking a photographer, but U.S. Ambassador Clarke Timberlake reportedly talked them down and they left.

Volunteers Fly In

From Brussels a detachment of 164 Belgian infantry volunteers, armed with automatic weapons and dressed in combat uniforms, were flown to the Congo. Communication between Leopoldville and the outside world was sporadic and uncertain.

But by all accounts, Friday was a day of chaos in Leopoldville, with native soldiers in control of the city for a time.

WHEAT QUOTAS TO BE MAILED FOR 1961 CROP

Twenty-two hundred Adams County farmers early next week will receive notices from the Adams County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office telling them how much land they may sow in wheat for 1961.

Each farmer's allotment is based on past production on his farm in relation to the 17,085 acres Adams County is permitted to grow for marketing during the coming year. The allotment is 413 acres less than last year's allotment and is part of a national wheat allotment of 55 million acres.

For many of the farmers who will receive notice, the amount of their allotment will be "zero acres." Carson Lamberson, chairman of the county's ASC committee said.

May Appeal

He added: "It may seem strange to send an allotment of no acres whatsoever to a farmer, but by being given an allotment, even though it be for no acres, the farmer is enabled to appeal the allotment and thus may be able to resume wheat production. If he has no allotment he cannot appeal."

The allotments are to be sent out starting Monday to give the farmers ample time to consider their allotment and needs before the annual wheat marketing quota referendum to be held Thursday, July 21. The voting places for the referendum will be announced within a few days.

Last year about seven per cent of the county's potential voters cast ballots in the referendum. The county ASC noted that two-thirds of those who cast ballots in the referendum must approve wheat marketing quotas if they are to go into effect. One-third plus one vote could eliminate the quotas.

Penalties For Excess

If quotas are approved, all farmers with more than 15 acres of wheat who exceed their acreage allotments will be subjected to penalties on the excess wheat.

Wheat growers, however, who comply with the "feed wheat" program are exempted from the (Continued On Page 3)

3 Judges Dismiss Nikirk Petition

Three circuit court judges Thursday refused to dismiss a petition by the Frederick County Bar Association seeking disbarment of former State's Attorney Edwin Nikirk.

The petition was filed after the former prosecutor was convicted of income tax evasion. Nikirk argued in Frederick County Circuit Court last Thursday that the petition should be dismissed because it did not constitute a cause of action.

But Judges Thomas M. Anderson, Kathryn J. Lawlor and James H. Pugh ruled otherwise and ordered Nikirk to answer the petition by July 20.

Nikirk was paroled last April from the federal penitentiary at Danbury, Conn., after serving part of a one-year sentence.

BULLETIN

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned today that "Soviet artillery" — meaning rockets — could hit the American mainland if the United States moved against Cuba.

In a blistering speech, he pledged all-out Soviet support for Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and warned the United States to keep its hands off that Caribbean republic.

Amid cheers, he told a meeting of school teachers in the Kremlin that this month's missiles test in the Pacific showed that the Soviet Union had rockets which could hit targets accurately at a distance of 13,000 kilometers (about 8,000 miles). This would enable them to strike the heartland of the United States.

DRIVER HURT IN CRASH ON FRIDAY NIGHT

State police from the local sub-station were called to two accidents during the night.

Pauline Creel, 23, Littlestown R. 1, suffered a dislocation of the knee in a crash a mile south of Littlestown on the Westminster Rd. at 10:15 o'clock Friday night.

Police said she was a passenger in a car operated by James R. Creel, 25, Littlestown R. 1, which was driving south toward Westminster.

Creel, police said, was passing several other autos when he saw an auto coming toward him and braked in order to return to his own lane of traffic.

Car Skidded

When Creel braked, his car skidded, according to police, and went onto the berm of the highway crashing into a halted car operated by Nicholas J. Ferrara, 23, Westminster R. 1. Ferrara had halted his car on the berm, police said, because the lights of his vehicle had failed as he was driving along the road.

Damage was estimated at $200 to the Creel auto and $30 to the Ferrara vehicle.

The other accident was at East Berlin on Abbottstown St. at 12:30 this morning.

State police said Maria Weaver, 22, York, seeking to back up to turn her car out of a parking space, backed into a parked car owned by Russell Lucabaugh, East Berlin. Damage, police said, totaled $2, to the bumper of Lucabaugh's auto.

Advisory Unit On Selection Of Books Asked

A committee to decide whether an advisory committee on book selection should be set up was authorized at the July meeting of the board of directors of the Adams County Free Library but President C. P. Keefe found that none of the four directors who had discussed the proposal was willing to serve on the "committee about a committee."

With little important business on hand, the board moved rapidly through its regular agenda and then under "new business" Dr. Frank N. Hewetson, a member of the board, proposed that the board keep a closer check on selection and book purchasing at the county library.

Mrs. Mary S. Wilson, the county librarian, who is on vacation, was not present to explain present purchasing and selection procedure and there was no direct criticism of the present setup.

"Trash" Or Worse

One director, however, told the board that an elderly reader had complained to him that some of the modern novels being loaned by the county library contained "a lot of trash" or worse.

KENNEDY IS TIGHTENING HIS CORDON

By JACK BELL
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. John F. Kennedy tightened the cordon around his rivals today as pre-convention battling over the Democratic presidential nomination neared a climax.

No matter where his opponents turned for support from uncommitted delegations, Kennedy's astute operators already had made their effective calls.

As the acknowledged front runner, the Massachusetts senator—due here today—could point to banked-up support in every area still regarded as political open range in advance of the convention's formal opening Monday.

Count On N.J. And Minn.
If the platoon leaders of delegations from California, Minnesota, Illinois, New Jersey and Pennsylvania consented to turn their ranks loose, there seemed little doubt that Kennedy would gather a substantial majority of them into his camp.

These five states could provide 203 of the needed 761 votes for the nomination. For a man whose bitterest enemies concede him around 600 on the first ballot, Kennedy regarded any delegate-freeing action in this group with high satisfaction.

To keep Kennedy from storming the nomination fortress on the first convention tally, Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and other aspirants counted heavily on Minnesota and New Jersey from these five. In addition they hoped that Kansas, with 21 votes, and Iowa, with 26, would stick with favorite son governors until there was a chance for a realignment after the initial roll call. They professed to believe that Kennedy would lose support in Indiana, Maryland and Ohio on a second count.

ITALIAN RIOTS MAY BACKFIRE

ROME (AP) — Bloody Communist rioting, aimed at ousting Premier Fernando Tambroni's Christian Democrat government, appeared today to have backfired and to have strengthened his hand instead.

The rioting, Italy's worst in years, has brought death to 10 and injuries to more than a thousand — both demonstrators and police. No major Italian city has escaped the disorders during the past two weeks.

Communist orators have repeatedly demanded that Tambroni must go or, as one pro-Communist senator put it, Italy will "be a government of civil war."

But the strife seems to have united the warring factions of Tambroni's Christian Democrat party behind him, at least for the present, and to have made it more difficult for the Fascists to withdraw their support from him.

Knoblauch, of Trenton, N. J., is wanted on bad check charges totaling $1,500 in Philadelphia, Bethlehem and Stroudsburg, Pa., Trenton and Burlington, N. J., and Rockaway Township, N. Y., said Davidson.

Knoblauch, held in $5,000 pending grand jury action, had brought his family to Philadelphia to celebrate the birthday of one of his sons.

Beaver Is Natural Resource Of Maine

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP)—The beaver, whose pelt became practically a monetary unit in early Colonial days, is still an important Maine natural resource. Trappers have received $100,000 to $250,000 annually in recent years for pelts.

Although their number is only around a third of the estimated 100,000 when the white men came, the "ingenious engineers" still have to be dealt with when their dams plug culverts and flood roads.

But the dams, ranging up to 10 feet high and 500 feet long, also provide natural soil and water for fish, waterfowl and other animals; and water supplies farmers have used for livestock in drought. The ponds provide refuge and aquatic plant feed for moose and deer, which also feed on browse material sprouting from stumps of trees the beavers fell.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The high, dome-shaped burner that used to mark nearly every sawmill is continuing to vanish as more and more uses are being found for wood wastes, the Western Pine Assn. says. Last year in the 12 western states, western pine sawmills had 5½ million tons of leftovers—sawdust, short ends and the like—and 3½ million tons was salvaged as fuel, pulp chips and other by-products.

MEXICAN LINE IN CUBA TESTS NATIONAL TIES

MEXICO CITY (AP) — A close friend of President Adolfo Lopez Mateos says Mexico must provide Cuba with oil to cope with what he calls "a social and human catastrophe."

Senate Leader Manuel Moreno Sanchez told newsmen Friday night Cuba is facing "a social and human crisis" and that Mexico could not remain indifferent.

"It is not a matter of trade," the senator said. "Mexico does not have an oil surplus. But Cuba is facing a need for a fundamental element vital to its survival."

Time Of Crisis — It is not political. It is entirely a social and human catastrophe.

His statement came despite generally unfavorable reaction to an earlier assertion by Deputy Emilio Sanchez Piedras that Mexico must side with Cuba in its clash with the United States.

Sanchez Piedras, government spokesman in Congress, was criticized by Conservatives and other opposition parties, many industrialists.

Mateos Is Silent

President Lopez Mateos has remained silent in the controversy which is blowing up in Mexico over Cuban-U.S. relations.

U. S. Ambassador Robert C. Hill made a hurried call on Foreign Minister Manuel Tello late Friday. Details of the meeting were not revealed by either side but Hill left with a worried look on his face.

Indications of a turn in Mexican policy came June 24 at a party given for Moreno Sanchez. At the same time, Gen. Alfonso Corona del Rosal, president of the ruling Party of Revolutionary Institutions, said Mexico should follow a leftist policy.

Piedras Out Of Step

There was some thought that perhaps Sanchez Piedras may have been somewhat out of step with his government in making the speech. Although he is himself a well-to-do landowner, as well as a leader of PRI, he is considered a disciple of ex-President Lazaro Cardenas, symbol of the party's left wing and champion of agrarian reform. Cardenas' views are a factor in Mexican policy but not necessarily dominant, especially in the field of foreign relations.

Officials of the PRI remained silent, waiting word from the President himself.

The federation of farm organizations said "it is not possible for Mexico, free and sovereign, lover of peace and progress," to side with a young dictator who serves knowingly or otherwise a foreign military power such as Russia.

Everyone Confused

Both Mexicans and outsiders were equally confused by the remarks that Mexico apparently supports Cuba in its dispute with the United States.

Sanchez Piedras told a party caucus Thursday that it appeared the United States is "closing the doors of its friendship and understanding in the face of the yearnings of the Cuban people to live in liberty and economic independence."

The statement has apparently caught the Mexican people by surprise. Many were torn between their friendships with respective neighbors to the north and east. The blood ties of Latin American durability are with the Cubans and at the same time there are many ties developed in recent years in friendship and trade with the United States.

WIDNES, England (AP) — Polly Flynn announced tonight she is considering Tom Purcell's offer of marriage.

Polly will be 100 next Tuesday. Tom is 72.

"Tom has proposed several times, but I am never able to tell whether he is serious," Polly giggled. "He last proposed a few days ago, but I turned him out."

Survival Kit Passes Tough 2-Week Test In Wyo. Wilds

By JIM COOK

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — "I became very spiritual, very prayerful — very emotional about everything," says Robert Lindblad, who deliberately lost himself in the wilds to test a survival kit.

"This went on for about three hours every afternoon for six days," Lindblad recalled, describing the extreme loneliness as the worst part of his do-or-die, 15-day trek through the wilderness of western Wyoming.

He hiked out of the hills Friday, 12 pounds lighter after living for more than two weeks out of a kit of his own design — the size and shape of a rectangular, one-gallon fuel can.

In Perfect Condition — "I feel much better now than when I started," he said. A doctor who examined Lindblad in Pinedale, Wyo., before he flew home here said he was in perfect condition.

He says a stint as an Air Force specialist in Arctic survival had convinced him that military survival kits were not adequate. He developed his own kit, consisting mainly of extremely concentrated food supplements.

Lindblad parachuted into Wyoming's Burnt Lake, 9,000 feet above sea level, to begin the test. The second phase of his test was a 100-mile hike along the snowy mountaintops. The third phase was a static test — he simply sat down and waited. That's when the loneliness set in.

Complete Success — Besides the food supplements, Lindblad's kit contained implements for fire-starting, first-aid, a knife and sharpening stone and a book of instructions.

He was dressed in an old pair of pants and shirt, a ski jacket, inexpensive boots and a cap with earflaps. His only other possession was the parachute, which he used at times as a shelter and a sleeping bag.

As for the kit, Lindblad says it's a complete success. He plans to begin manufacturing it.

The monthly report of the librarian showed book loans of 6,795 in June as compared with 6,143 for the same month last year. The biggest increase was in the volume of loans through adult stations but the main library also showed an increase.

The financial report was brighter than usual with a number of donations received in the last month: $1,000 from borough council, $200 from McSherrystown School District, $150 from the Littlestown Joint School System, $125 from the Arendtsville PTA, $1,000 from the Friends of the Library, $25 each from the Gettysburg Ministerium and the County TB Society and $19 from individuals. Bills totaling $1,920 were ordered paid.

TAX BOARD'S FIGURES FAIL TO CAUSE STIR

By FRED B. WALTER

HARRISBURG (AP) — The striking thing about the State Tax Equalization Board's latest report of taxable property values in Pennsylvania was the relative calm with which it was received.

Contrast that with a year ago when the report landed like a bombshell in the middle of a restless, seething legislative session. The House and Senate chambers echoed for days to Republican charges of political bias on the part of the Democratic-controlled board.

The importance of the board's annual report is that it is the basis for distributing state subsidies to public schools. These have always been an extremely sensitive issue in Pennsylvania's General Assembly.

Meant Subsidy Drop — Last year's report was made after the first thorough survey of property values in six years. Districts where property had been only roughly estimated—and often underestimated—for those years were hit hard.

The higher a district's property value, the lower its state subsidy, and some districts found their value jumped nearly 50 per cent. This meant a sizable drop in subsidies for these districts.

But what really ruffled legislative tempers—GOP tempers—was the fact that the two big Democratic strongholds had their market value sharply decreased. Philadelphia this stood to gain nearly 2 1/2 million dollars in state subsidies and Pittsburgh over $342,000.

Stuck To Guns — Generally, cities stood to gain by the new assessments — their property values had been shown to have dropped — while rural areas stood to lose. This further compounded the controversy.

The tax board stood by its assessments through the legislative storm. An investigation of the board by the GOP-dominated Senate failed to shake its position that the findings were accurate and unbiased.

But it didn't matter. In the end, the legislature simply froze subsidies by guaranteeing that no school district would lose money as a result of the new assessment.

WHEAT QUOTAS

quota program. However, those growers who have less than 15 acres of wheat and those who are taking part in the "feed wheat" program are not eligible to cast ballots in the referendum because such wheat is not subject to marketing quota penalties. However farmers who are allotted less than 15 acres who wish to grow more than 15 acres will be permitted to vote.

If the marketing quotas are put into effect, price support will be available at not less than 75 per cent of parity for those who comply with their allotments. If the marketing quotas are voted out, price support on the 1961 will be at 60 per cent of parity for those farmers who abide by their allotments.

With the 1960 wheat crop soon to move to storage, the ASC announced a list of warehouses approved for wheat storage including Starnes Grain and Feed, at Hampton, which can handle 16,000 bushels of wheat on ASC loan; Lemasters elevator at Lemasters, which can handle 80,000 bushels; Walter Brothers at Altenwald, which can handle 30,000 bushels; Cargill at Marietta which can handle 250,000 bushels; Nelson Weaver who can store 100,000 bushels at Litzitz R. 2, and 755,000 bushels at New Providence R. 1.

Wheat grading garlicky will not be accepted at the Marietta elevator, the ASC reported.

Three Escaped

At the moment the Williams car swerved, the eight youngsters were heading toward the snack shop. Three lagged behind a short distance and were unharmed.

Dead at the scene were Judy Stine, 16, Olyphant; Patrick Caviston 3rd, 16, Ambrose O'Rourke Jr., 17, and Thomas Clause, 17, all friends and neighbors in Carbondale. The Caviston and O'Rourke boys were cousins. A short time later, Carol Ligi, 16, of Peckville, died in Carbondale General Hospital.

O'Rourke's brother, Dan, 12, was among those in the drive-in.

Polylingual Indonesian Rattles Off Six Tongues With Surprising Fluency

Roy Gasper, a widely-traveled, 20-year-old Indonesian immigrant, has placed his stamp of approval on Gettysburg after only two weeks in town commenting that "this is a wonderful town and I would like to settle here when I marry."

Even at 20 the Indonesian youth has kicked around the world like a Kipling character. Born in Indonesia, he left the country when he was 15 because his family was caught up in the swirl of rising nationalism which eventually resulted in the nation declaring itself independent from the Dutch to whom his parents were loyal. As a result they either had to join the demonstrations against the Dutch or leave the country.

Ill fortune continued to hound young Gasper. His father died in a Japanese concentration camp during the war. Later his mother remarried and now resides in Holland with her husband, a professor of history at a European university.

Many Experiences — Gasper's action-packed life includes two years of college and experience as a draftsman and construction worker at the Volvo plant in Sweden. He has high hopes of continuing his college education through a scholarship grant at some engineering school in California or Texas once he completes his military service.

His knock-about existence has made him a topflight linguist. He can rattle along in six languages and his skill has won him the plaudits of two local college language teachers: Herbert G. Hamme, associate professor of Romance languages at Gettysburg College, who checked out his German, and Hans Enggren, in-ling his travel.

Commenting on Americans and our way of life, Gasper says he thinks we "live to work" in contrast to Europeans who take things at a much easier pace and look for greater enjoyment. But he expects to fall into the swing of things in a short time.

As an immigrant, Gasper will have to spend five years in the United States before he can become a citizen. But his eyes are set on his goal of becoming a mechanical engineer and continuing his travel.

Five Teen-agers Killed By Auto As They Cross Road

CARBONDALE, Pa. (AP) — Eight teen-agers started across a road Friday night toward a snack shop. Five never made it as a car came out of the darkness and sent them sprawling into a ditch.

Four died at the scene, the fifth a short time later as she was undergoing surgery.

The accident occurred on Route 247 in nearby Greenfield Township. The scene was near Newton Lake, a popular resort. Nearby hundreds of persons sat in a drive-in theater unaware of the tragedy outside.

State police said the driver, Wayne W. Williams, 19, of Union Dale R. D., Susquehanna County, said he had swerved from his lane on the road to avoid striking two hitch-hikers. Two companions gave the same account.

Williams and his two companion, Donald Guseak, 18, of Forest City, and John Mikloiche, 18, of Carbondale R. 1, stayed at the scene until the last body had been removed. Williams was charged with involuntary manslaughter.

At the dimly lit scene, spectators could see the marquee of the theater. One of the feature attractions was "Edge of Eternity."

Eastern League

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The power hitting of Craig Sorensen and Denny Loudenback has moved Lancaster's Red Roses into serious contention in the Eastern League.

The Red Roses swept a double-header from Springfield Friday night, 6-1 and 10-6, to move only 4 1/2 games behind league leading Williamsport and one and a half games behind second-place Springfield.

Williamsport muffed a chance to increase its lead even more when it lost to Reading 7-4 while last place Allentown completed the good night for underdogs by edging Binghamton 10-8 in a battle of grand slams.

Sorensen's three-run first inning home run was all the backing pitcher Charlie Herzberger needed in the first game as he tossed an eight-hitter. Loudenback hit a grand slam and a two-run triple in the nightcap. The homer gave Lancaster an early lead and the triple, in the ninth inning, clinched the victory.

Ray Konkoleski's sparking relief highlighted the Reading victory. Williamsport had the bases loaded and none out in the sixth when "Konko" came in and then struck out the side. Bill Wyatt had three RBIs for Reading.

Allentown's victory came on catcher Bob Hoffer's eighth inning grand slam. Tom Tresh had accomplished the same feat for Binghamton in the sixth inning.

DEMOCRATS GET READY FOR BIG DAY

By BOB THOMAS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Convention lowlights —

Texans aren't the only ones who think big. Gov. Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey opened his news conference by saying his delegation had come to California with 81 votes. After he made a second reference to 81 votes, someone in the audience reminded him that New Jersey had only 41 votes. He can dream, can't he?

To CBS' Douglas Edwards goes the prize for the first TV boo-boo of the convention. Closing a commentary, he said confidently, "and now back to convention headquarters in Dallas, Texas." The show was pre-taped and the line was cut out of the broadcast version by some killjoy.

Overflow Crowd

Is this significant? Sen Lyndon B. Johnson was greeted by an integrated band at the airport — nine white players and a Negro trombonist.

Johnson's news conference drew an overflow crowd in the Biltmore Bowl, where movie stars once supped and sipped. The turnout was so big that New York Timesman James Reston had to sit on the floor.

Sen. Frank Church is otherwise a cheerful lad of 35. But he was grumbling slightly about sending his keynote speech by registered mail to his Washington office for copying. It never arrived. Luckily he kept a spare copy. No word yet whether he'll inject a comment on how the Republicans run the Post Office.

Free Drinks

Campaign buttons observed on a disgruntled network employee: "Dump Everybody."

The battle of the colas continues. One camp gives out the promise of dispensing 120,000 free drinks during the convention.

Cardinals Thump Giants 7-1
As Dodgers Beat Cubs And
Phillies And Pirates Split

By ED WILKS

Associated Press Sports Writer

It appears the San Francisco Giants, who can't play cards for high stakes and can't stay up late, now can't win ball games either. They've won only six of 19 since mid-June, when Tom Sheehan replaced Bill Rigney as manager. And they've lost four in a row since Sheehan, who chewed 'em out about the card games and late hours, was named skipper for the rest of the season by owner Horace Stoneham.

The Giants were second, four games out of first, when Sheehan took over. But they're tied with St. Louis for fourth place, 8½ games behind, after Friday night's 7-1 thumping by the Cardinals.

First place Pittsburgh split a two-night doubleheader at Philadelphia, winning 8-3 after a 6-5, 10 inning loss. That shaved the Pirates' lead to five games over the Milwaukee Braves, who beat Cincinnati 6-3. Los Angeles moved into third place with a 5-3 victory over the Chicago Cubs, the Dodgers' fifth straight and 10th in 12 games.

The Giants, scoring just five runs in their last five games, managed only four singles off rookie Ray Sadecki (3-4), a 19-year-old left-hander.

The Cardinals broke up Jack Sanford's shutout string at 21 innings with three runs in the third on singles by Sadecki and Joe Cunningham and Stan Musial's two-run homer. It was Sanford's sixth loss in 14 decisions.

Stop Bucs' Streak

The Phillies beat Pittsburgh for the third straight time in the opener, ending the Pirates' winning string at four as Ruben Amaro doubled and slid home under Roberto Clemente's peg on a single by winning reliever Dick Farrell. The decision at the plate, giving the Phils their seventh consecutive extra-inning victory, touched off a storm of Buc protests. Fred Green (4-3) was the loser in relief, while Farrell, won 7-2, blanked the Pirates on 10 hits for 3-1-3 innings.

Bill Virdon, who homered along with Don Hoak in the opener, rapped two doubles and a triple in the second game. A walk, and one-out singles by Hoak and Bill Mazeroski broke a 3-3 tie in a four-run fifth against Dallas Green (1-3). Bob Friend, winning his 10th on the fourth try over two weeks, checked the Phils on seven hits, walking just one and striking out six.

Hank Aaron and Wes Covington each drove in two runs for the Braves, with Aaron's 24th home run wrapping it up in the third inning off Jay Hook (7-8). It was the fifth straight loss for the Reds, who had only two hits, one Wally Post's home run, before chasing winner Juan Pizarro (5-2) in the ninth.

The Dodgers twice came from behind, then broke a 3-3 tie in the sixth on a walk and Duke Snider's two-out triple off Bob Anderson (2-6). Wally Moon tagged reliever Don Elston for a homer in the eighth. Ed Roebuck (7-1) won his sixth in a row with 6-2-3 innings of four-hit, shutout relief. He now has allowed just one run in the last 25 innings, reducing his earned run average to 2.03. Roger Craig was the Dodger starter.

Big League

Coldsmith Roofers were credited with a pair of victories over the league-leading VFW team Friday evening.

The Vets forfeited the first game when they were unable to field a full team by 6:30 for completion of a 1-1 tie game of June 6.

The second game started at 7:45 to complete the 2-2 tie of June 30. After the VFW failed to score in the top of the eighth inning the Roofers put together a single, safe bunt and two walks, the second walk of which forced in the winning run.

Following the second game a special league meeting was held and it was voted not to start a game unless two official umpires are present. It was decided that all forfeits are to be awarded by umpires only as now provided in the league rules.

Name New Managers

James Wiley, 218 York St., was appointed as the new manager of the Exchange Club to succeed Marlin Fisel who recently resigned. Robert Decker, Liberty St., will remain as the assistant coach.

Plans were continued for attending the Baltimore-Cleveland game at Baltimore Friday evening, July 29.

Tentative plans were made for the recently selected All-Star squad to meet Arendtsville of the South Penn League on the Recreation Park field Saturday afternoon, July 23. An admission of 50c will be charged in order to raise funds for the league treasury.

FAIRFIELD

Minus the services of a number of regulars, the Pirates were an easy target of the Giants Friday evening, the Giants romping to a 25-victory, darkness halting the game after four and one-half innings.

Gary Deardoff limited the Pirates to two hits, singles by John Dick and J. Musselman and fanned 12.

Scott Cook lead the winners with five safeties, including a home-run and pair of doubles.

PHILLIES, BUCS
SPLIT PAIR ON FRIDAY NIGHT

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates, swallowing a bitter pill of defeat in the first game, came back Friday night to show the largest Philadelphia Phillies home crowd in four years they're the National League leaders.

Big Bob Friend, scoring his first victory in two weeks and his first of the year, got ample batting support from his mates in the nightcap to coast to an 8-3 win.

Reliever Dick Farrell pitched and batted the Phils to a 6-5 victory in the 10-inning opener of the two-night doubleheader. The loss cost the Pirates a half game of their lead over second place Milwaukee and probably will cost several Pirates in cash.

Catcher Thrown Out

Catcher Bob Oldis was thrown out of the game—after it was over—and manager Danny Murtaugh and several other Bucs protested so vehemently the game ending call by the umpire, Ed Vargo, that National League President Warren Giles probably will be handing out fines after he gets Vargo's account of the incident.

What touched it off was Ruben Amaro's game winning run, on a single by Farrell who allowed only one hit in 3 1-3 innings. Roberto Clemente rushed in on Farrell's single and rifled the ball to Oldis who apparently had Amaro, coming in from second base, dead at the plate. Vargo ruled Amaro went around the tag. Oldis, Murtaugh, Don Hoak and Dick Groat rushed. Vargo and Oldis got thumbed for shoving the umpire.

Murtaugh said later that Amaro "was out. That was all there was to it." His anger soothed by the second game victory, Murtaugh singled out Bill Virdon as one reason for his team's latest surge, in which the Pirates now lead Milwaukee by five games.

Ten Hits Off Phils

Virdon had five hits, a home run, two doubles and a triple, and three RBIs in his leadoff spot Friday night. Groat also had three RBIs for the Pirates, including a sixth inning double in the nightcap that scored Bill Mazeroski and Virdon with the runs that put the game beyond the reach for the Phils.

In all the Pirates slammed 10 hits off Dallas Green, Taylor Phillips and Humberto Robinson in the nightcap while Friend scattered seven hits, walked one and struck out six.

The smoothness afield of the Pirates, their speed on the base paths, their general hustle all are part of the explanation for the 36-066 who came to watch a seventh place ball club tangle with the league leaders.

Phils attendance has been on the rise because of the spirit shown by the young team, which won its seventh consecutive one-run decision in the opener, but no one had expected Friday night's turnout.

Simple Precautions Will Maintain Cool Egg-holding Room During Summer Heat

By FRANK S. ZETTLER
Adams County Farm Agent

A few simple precautions or practices will help the poultryman maintain a cool temperature in his egg-holding room during the summer.

Window shades help keep heat from the sun out of the room during the day. Shrubbery, planted in front of the windows will provide shade, and help keep the wall cooler.

Keeping the door to the egg room shut when not in use and opening and closing it as quickly as possible when entering or leaving will also help. At night if it is warmer in the egg room than it is outside leave the door open to help equalize the temperatures. Shut off lights in the egg room when not needed.

Clay Soil Hurts Trees

Many kinds of trees will not stand bad drainage. For this reason homeowners frequently have difficulty in establishing trees in areas where the soil consists largely of heavy clay subsoil turned up in the building of their houses.

Lightening heavy clay soil around a tree's roots zone by addition of leaf mold, peat moss, compost or other organic matter, when planting, may not help if a drainage problem exists. In fact this may only make matters worse. If water cannot penetrate the surrounding clay, it may gather around the tree roots and be trapped there. This is like planting a tree in a bucket full of water, and few trees will survive such treatment.

A good way to test for bad drainage is to dig a hole about 18 inches deep in the spot where you are planning to plant a tree. Fill the hole with water and allow it to stand for 36 hours. If water remains in the hole at the end of that time without replenishment from rain or other sources, drainage is unsatisfactory.

Lists Remedies

There are ways to remedy this situation: Regrade the surface of the ground to encourage better runoff. If there is a lower surface level nearby, drain tile can be laid to carry water from the bottom of the planting hole to a lower spot where it will run away. Another method, which may be better, is to dig the planting hole somewhat deeper than necessary to accommodate the roots and fill the bottom with a generous layer of coarse gravel. This will allow room for water to stand where it will not touch the tree roots.

If surface run-off is slow, mound soil slightly around the base of the tree to keep water from gathering there. Sometimes it is better to fill the hole with the same soil that was taken out so as not to encourage standing water in the tree's root zone.

Poison Your Pigs

Swine growers often are unwittingly responsible for poisoning their own pigs.

Cocklebur is poisonous in the young, two-leaf stage. Keep hogs off pasture infested with this plant until it is large enough not to be poisonous to pigs.

Rape plants sometimes cause

Judge Give Fine, Wife Gives Cash

GIBBSTOWN, N. J. (AP) —

Judge Oliver Daniels, 88, has been holding court here for 53 years and is still keenly alert.

He recalls the case of a woman who was fined for a misdemeanor.

The woman, a neighbor of the judge asked for a few hours to raise the money and the judge agreed. She returned only a few moments later and paid the fine.

That evening Judge Daniels learned the woman had borrowed the money from his wife.

trouble, too. It's not poisonous in the usual sense, but it produces sensitivity to sunlight. When white-skinned hogs are on rape pasture in hot sunlight it may cause lesions resembling severe sunburn. The injury may become so severe as to cause deep sloughing of the skin. If much sunburn occurs, the animals should be taken out of the pasture.

Clay Pigeons

Clay pigeons used in trapshooting are poisonous to pigs. Never allow trapshooting in the hog pasture. Pigs may be poisoned on fragments of clay pigeons 20 to 25 years after they are shot.

Lead poisoning may occur when empty paint buckets are left where pigs can get to them or are used for feed buckets before they are carefully cleaned out.

Pig worming materials are poisonous if not properly used. Always follow directions in using these materials.

Some rat poisons are also highly poisonous to pigs.

Occasionally, cases of poisoning are reported when a sprayer used in the hog house or on the pasture was not properly cleaned.

Proper Measures Remove Stubborn Grass Stains, Home Economist Asserts

MRS. HELEN TUNISON
Home Economist

Let no grass stains mar clothing this summer. Give stains prompt attention before they have a chance to set in the fabric.

For a grass stain on a washable fabric, first remove any grass on the surface by scraping with the back of a table knife. Then turn the garment inside out and work from the wrong side. This will force out the stain. Work detergent in to the stain, then rinse with clear water. If some of the stain remains, use a bleach. But do not use a chlorine bleach on a wash-and-wear fabric or a resin-finished fabric. When all traces of stain are removed, wash the garment in the usual way.

Use rubbing alcohol instead of a detergent for grass stains on nonwashable fabrics. Dilute the alcohol with two parts of water if the fabric is acetate.

Test Alcohol

Test the alcohol on a hidden part of the garment or a scrap of fabric to be sure it is safe for the dye. Using a small clean cloth, sponge the stain with alcohol. Work from the center toward the outside edge, using light strokes. Be very careful with alcohol because it is flammable and poisonous.

For stubborn stains on nonwashable fabrics, use detergent and the same procedure as for washable fabrics. Use as little water as possible. The fabric may be rinsed with clear water or alcohol.

A Summery Dessert

Sometimes the main course of a summer meal is so good, so hearty, that no one has any interest in dessert until much later. Why not plan to serve dessert as a bedtime snack and make it a dish of fresh orange sherbet? It's light, cooling and healthful.

Fresh Orange Sherbet

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1 1/4 cups fresh orange juice
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup fresh lemon or lime juice
2 egg whites, unbeaten
1/4 teaspoon salt
Soften gelatin in 1/4 cup orange juice and set aside. Bring sugar and water to boiling point in saucepan. Cool slightly. Stir in gelatin. Blend in remaining orange juice and lemon juice. Freeze until firm in ice-cube tray. Turn into large bowl of electric mixer. Add egg whites and salt and beat at low speed until mixture is broken into small pieces. Beat at high speed until fluffy. Turn into two freezing trays and freeze until firm. Makes about

T-H-I Hitting 80?

When the temperature-humidity index reaches 80, combining the effects of both high temperature and sticky humidity, everyone goes around moaning "Another scorcher today!"

One of the best things you can do on a day like that is to stir up a tall pitcher of citrus fruit cooler. To make enough for six servings, squeeze three cups orange juice and add one cup water, 1/2 cup grapefruit juice, 1/4 cup sugar, two tablespoons fresh lemon juice and two teaspoons pure vanilla extract. Mix well and serve over ice in tall glasses. Garnish with sprigs of fresh mint or thin slices of lime.

BRIEFS

LOS ANGELES (AP)—AFL-CIO President George Meany predicted to Democratic convention platform drafters Friday that government unemployment figures will show a "frightening" jump of nearly one million during June.

This increase, he said, would be the largest May to June jump in the jobless total since end of World War II.

Urging government policies keyed to stimulating greater economic growth, Meany said the country is on the road to stagnation, not to growth.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Heavy rains washing acid from abandoned coal mines was blamed Thursday for the death of thousands of fish in the Allegheny River.

Sanitary engineers from the State Health Dept. noted the rising acidity in a test made Tuesday when dead fish were found floating down the river.

Dick C. Hill, engineer for the Pittsburgh regional headquarters, said the situation is similar to another case of June 1958. Then he said, acid drainage from mines killed thousands of fish on the Kishi watershed.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Interior Department has been given the go-ahead to establish an expanded coal research program designed to solve the immediate problems of the coal industry.

Under a bill signed Thursday by President Eisenhower, all private and government research into new uses for coal and new techniques for mining shall be coordinated by the Interior Department.

The bill was sponsored by Rep. John P. Saylor (R-Pa) and was tailored to meet administration objections. Eisenhower vetoed a similar bill last year because it would have set up an independent agency to supervise the research program.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Gov. David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania urged Friday that federal aid to distressed areas be included in the

DANIEL BOONE WILL BE HERO OF DISNEY TV

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Walt Disney has dipped into American history again to come up with a hero to match his great success with Davy Crockett. This time it's Daniel Boone.

With characteristic thoroughness, Disney has researched the life and times of the great wilderness pioneer, who will come out as a flesh and blood character instead of the legend of history books.

Daniel will join the lineup of heroes on the Walt Disney presents Tver next season, along with Texas John Slaughter, the Swamp Fox and Zorro. To play Boone, the producer hired an actor he has long admired—Dewey Martin.

Role Swings Actor

"I've been trying to get Dewey to work for me for a long time," Walt explained. "But he didn't want to get tied down to a contract. The Boone deal appealed to him because he isn't stuck in a series."

"The role was what did it," said Dewey. "This is the best character I've had to play since 'The Big Sky.'"

Dewey is compactly built and may not fit the usual conception

Democratic Party platform. Lawrence advocated such aid as a basic goal "in our work to achieve fuller human progress and a world in which free men can live in security and with human dignity in the years ahead."

His prepared statement for a public hearing of the party's platform committee included a mild attack on President Eisenhower whom Lawrence said "shunted aside the tragic problems of the chronically unemployed by telling them how good things are generally."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Leave it to California to provide a touch of glamor amid the 4,518 delegates and alternates to the Democratic National Convention.

One of the members of Gov. Edmund G. Brown's delegation bears two famous names. In the political crowd, she's Patricia Kennedy. To Hollywood, she's Mrs. Peter Lawford.

With typical Kennedy smoothness, she has managed to juggle the twin careers of being sister to a presidential aspirant and wife of a movie star, plus managing a seaside manse as well with three youngsters. Pat paused between her many duties to discuss the political side of her life.

of Boone. "But I've done a lot of reading about him," the actor said, "and I found out he was exactly my height and build."

Dewey is faced with a dilemma in the Daniel Boone TV films. He naturally wants them to be successful, but not to produce the kind of tidal wave that engulfed Fess Parker.

"The good thing about it is that Disney doesn't believe in sequels; that's why he never did a series on Crockett. We'll just make four or six stories and that will be that."

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

OLD FORT FREELAND

Last week, in this column, mention was made of old Fort Freeland, located on Warrior Run, in Northumberland County, in regard to the "Great Runaway." In answer to several requests, a brief history of this historic landmark, so important in the frontier history of the Keystone state, is herewith given.

One Pennsylvania historian refers to Fort Freeland as "a sad death trap" and this just about sums up the situation. It (Fort Freeland) was located on Warrior Run, just about one mile east of the Warrior Run Presbyterian Church. It was stockaded in the autumn of 1778 by Jacob Freeland and his neighbors, at which time a large two-story log house (the home of Jacob Freeland) was enclosed. Also included within the walls of the stockade was a spring, an absolute necessity in case of an attack by the Indians.

Jacob Freeland was one of the early settlers in the Warrior Run region and soon after his arrival, in 1773 or 1774, built a mill, having brought the materials for the same from New Jersey. Mary V. Derickson, who was born in Fort Freeland, wrote, in 1855, her recollections of the old fort (Series I, Volume XII, page 364) as follows:

Gives Recollections

"In compliance with your request, I will give (so far as my memory will serve) all the account of the early occupants of Fort Freeland. The fort was situated on the Warrior Run Creek, about four and one-half miles above where it empties into the Susquehanna River. In the year 1772, Jacob Freeland, Samuel Gould, Peter Vincent, John Vincent, and his son, Cornelius, and Timothy Williams, with their respective families, cut their way through (the wilderness) and settled within some two miles of where the fort was afterwards built. They were from Essex County, New Jersey. Jacob Freeland brought the iron for a grist mill and soon after his settlement built such a mill on Warrior Run.

"There were several more families moved up from the same place, and they lived on friendly terms with the Indians until 1777, when they (the Indians) began to be troublesome. Some of the settlers left the region with their families at this time but later a few of them returned. In the fall of 1778 the mill and the house of Jacob Freeland was stockaded—about half an acre of ground being enclosed. The timbers were set close and were about twelve feet high—the gate was fastened with bars inside. Into this fort, or house, the families of Jacob Freeland Sr., Jacob Freeland Jr., John Little, Michael Freeland, John Vincent, Peter Vincent, George Pack, Cornelius Vincent, Moses Kirk, James Durham, Samuel Gould, Isaac Vincent and David Vincent all gathered and lived there all that winter (1778-79). In November, 1778, George Pack, son of George Pack, was born, and on May 20, 1778, George, the son of Isaac Vincent, and on February 10, 1779, I (Mary Vincent Derickson) was born.

"My father was Cornelius Vincent.

In the spring of 1779 the men planted corn and were occasionally surprised by the Indians, but nothing serious occurred until July 21, 1779, as some of them were at work in the cornfield back of the fort. They were attacked by a party of Indians about nine o'clock in the morning and Isaac Vincent, Elias Freeland and Jacob Freeland Jr. were killed. Benjamin Vincent and Michael Freeland were taken prisoners. Daniel Vincent was chased by the Indians but he outran them and escaped by jumping a high log fence. When the Indians surprised them, Benjamin Vincent (then but ten years of age) hid in a furrow, but he thought he would be more secure by climbing a tree, as there was a woods near, but the Indians saw him and took him prisoner. He (Benjamin Vincent) was ignorant of the fate of the others until several hours later when an Indian thrust a bloody scalp in his face and he knew it was his brother's (Isaac Vincent) scalp.

"Nothing further occurred until the morning of July 29, 1779, at daybreak, as Jacob Freeland Sr. was going out the gate of the stockade, he was shot and fell inside the gate. The fort was surrounded by about 300 British and Indians, commanded by a Captain McDonald. There were only 21 men in Fort Freeland and but little ammunition. Mary Kirk and Phebe Vincent began immediately and ran all their spoons and plates into bullets. About nine o'clock a flag of truce was raised and John Little and John Vincent went out to capitulate, but could not agree. They were given half an hour to consult with those inside the stockade; at length they agreed that all who were able to bear arms should go as prisoners, and the old men and women and children set free, and the fort given up to plunder.

Fort Was Burned

"They all left the fort at noon—not one of them having eaten a bite that day and not a child was heard to cry or ask for bread. They reached Northumberland, some 18 miles distant, that night and drew their first rations for the day. When Mrs. Kirk heard the terms on which they were set free she put female clothes on her son, William Kirk, a lad some 16 years of age, and he escaped with the women. Mrs. Elizabeth Vincent was a cripple and could not walk. Her husband, John Vincent, went to Captain McDonald and told him of her situation, and said if he had a horse which the Indians had taken from his son, Peter Vincent, the week before, that she could make the trip to Northumberland. The horse was found and Elizabeth Vincent rode to safety. The fort was burned that night.

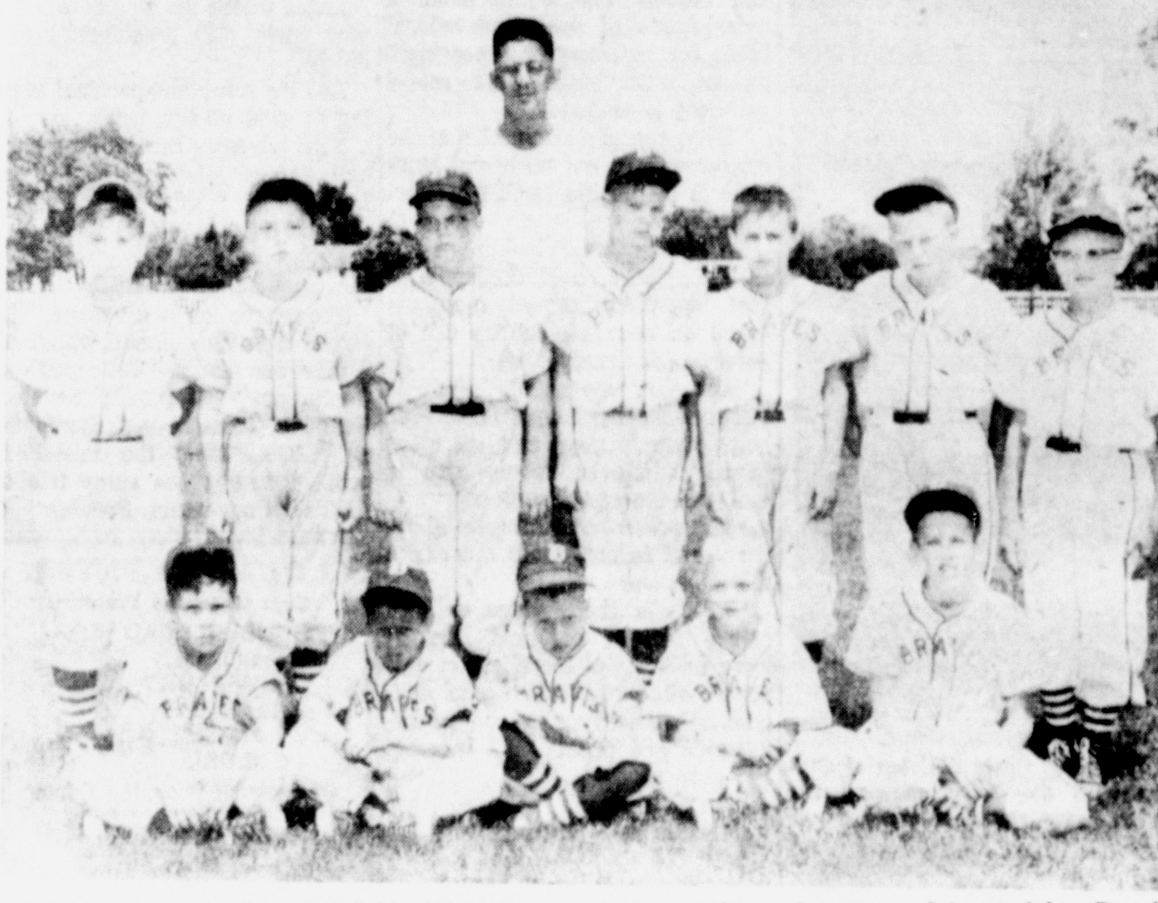

"After the surrender of Fort Freeland Captains Boone and Daugherty arrived with 30 men; supposing the fort to be still holding out they made a dash across Warrior Run, when they were surrounded. Captain Hawkins Boone and Captain Samuel Daugherty and nearly half of their force were killed, the remainder broke through and escaped."

The account of Fort Freeland will be continued in this column next week.

From Jazz Quartet To Priest In 8 Years

WOODSTOCK, Va. (AP)—From bass fiddler to a hot jazz quartet to Catholic priest is quite a switch. The Rev. John Frega made it.

Father John, a native of Paterson, N. J., once sat in the bass spot for the Joe Mooney quartet, a favorite in the post-World War II years. He also played with an earlier Les Brown orchestra.

He gave up his world of music in 1948, at the age of 30, to enter St. Philip Neri Seminary in Massachusetts.

"I often thought about entering the priesthood," Father John says, "but I never thought it would be for me. So I took to music."

He hit the road — one night stands, sleep in buses, shaves in dance hall washrooms. But he never missed Mass.

After a tour as a military policeman in World War II, he joined the

On weekends, pretty, blonde Tony Ackel is a rodeo rider and takes her share of the spills and thrills.

Tony, wife of high school teacher John Ackel, is a barrel racer. Her husband not only approves of it but goes in for rodeo sports himself.

Barrel Racer

What does a barrel racer do? She circles three steel barrels, set up in a triangle in the rodeo arena, at breakneck speed astride her pony.

John is a bulldogger. His steed is an angry critter with ugly horns and usually, Ackel says, "so ornery even his own mother hates him."

On weekends the two head out in their trailer for nearby rodeos and a shot at the prize money.

Want Prize Money

Tony, who takes part in the colorful horseback drill opening the rodeos and who has been known to ride a bull on a dare, has had one serious mishap in the arena.

A horse she was riding in a barrel race 12 years ago fell on her and she had to stay on crutches for months.

Soon after a doctor gave her an okay to throw away her crutches, she was back riding another spirited horse in the speedy circling of the barrels.

No Qualms

Husband John has no qualms about his wife's rodeo enthusiasm. "It's wonderful," he says. "I'm real proud of her."

Mrs. Ackel shrugs off any mention of her courage. "I always

Latin Ran Through Ears
Daily attendance at Mass and meditation finally led Gaetan (Gate) Frega to the Capuchin priesthood. He recalls that St. Philip Neri Seminary taught him everything "in one year that other 'ests usually learn in four years, had Latin running out of my ears when I was through."

He was ordained in 1956. Father John and the boys held a "session" right after the services in the monastery, with Father John on bass.

"The whole monastery came and they loved it," he says.

Father John, who frequently lectures on jazz, now is assistant pastor of a small church here.

One musician who heard him play not long ago said:

"Father John hasn't lost his touch. He's greater than ever."

The show includes such hit songs as, "The Party's Over," "Just In Time," "Hello, Hello There," "I Met A Girl," and "It's A Simple Little System." Others in the cast are John Stratton, Jack Eddie-man, Barbara Mandell and Manny Lax.

OPERA STAR PLANS NIGHT CLUB ENTRY

NEW YORK (AP)—From now on, Elaine Malbin is going to have two singing careers.

The young star of television opera is branching into popular show business with a supper club act.

But tiny Elaine is doing her diversifying with several distinctive touches of her own.

"There aren't going to be any strip teases or gimmicks," she says "and I'm not going to sacrifice my legitimate voice."

Miss Malbin is confident she has the equipment.

"I'm going to utilize a low, chest voice that I don't need for opera. In a supper club, I've already found out, you don't have to be a great singer. You do have to be a great entertainer."

"Small, Slim, Earthy." "I'm small. I'm relatively slim. I wear glamorous clothes. And I'm more or less an earthy type of person. These are the elements I'm counting on for supper club acceptance."

A compulsion is behind her push into new work, because with her work with the NBC Opera company and concert appearances Miss Malbin has sufficient activity to satisfy most people.

"Psychologically it is very good for me to get close to the audience," she explains. "Until now I've been very disinterested in this type of work because I was very suspicious about my ability to involve myself with other people."

Tested Aptitude

Miss Malbin has tested her aptitude in several stands at fashionable spots in San Juan, Havana, Miami, and recently triumphed in her New York debut at the Hotel Pierre.

For the tryouts, Miss Malbin relied on a mixture of standard and popular tunes. Now she has prepared an act of special material and melodies, engineered to her skills by Sydney Shaw, who has previously prepared acts for Lena Horne and Johnny Mathis.

"The only touch of opera in it may be a bit of 'Madame Butterfly,'" she says, referring to the assignment which first brought game to the girl from Brooklyn.

"My big goal still is to sing at the Metropolitan Opera," she says. "This is a challenge. I hope to make a great deal of money at it, and make people like me a lot."

GOUT VICTIMS PLAYED ROLES IN U.S. HISTORY

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—One out of every 100 Americans has a disease at which many of the other 99 often laugh through sheer ignorance.

This disease is gout, a malady which has had a far more important impact on our country than, say, those twin ailments of the advertising world — halitosis and athlete's foot.

Those who laugh at gout might not be here at all except for the dreaming boldness of a gout sufferer. Between his pangs this man — Christopher Columbus — discovered America.

Pitt Had Gout

Those who laugh at gout might not be Americans at all except for two more gout victims.

One was the brilliant English orator, William Pitt. It is said that only an attack of gout prevented him from stopping passage of the Stamp Act, a measure that speeded the American Revolution.

The other was Benjamin Franklin, whose diplomatic genius—despite his throbs of gout—did so much to win American freedom and establish our national unity.

Those who laugh at gout do so in the belief that it is a heavenly penalty for high living. The truth is that gout is an inheritable metabolic disorder, a form of arthritis that afflicts more suspected sinners than known saints only because at any one time the world usually holds many sinners, few saints.

History Recalled

The long and honorable history of gout is recalled in the current issue of "Geriatrics" by two physicians, L. Maxwell Lockie and Richard G. Cooper, both of Buffalo, N.Y.

Gout, which is manifested by painful deposits in the joints and body cartilage and accompanied by a high uric acid content in the blood, is one of the oldest diseases known to man.

It was accurately described by Hippocrates, the "father of medicine," and others as early as the 5th century, B.C. As early as the 17th century Thomas Sydenham, "the English Hippocrates," classified gout as a form of arthritis and gave his view that victims "have received ill seeds of the disease from their parents by inheritance."

Usual Image

The general image of a man with the gout was that of a fat red-faced English lord lying in bed with a heavily bandaged foot propped up on a pillow, a wretch who screamed in agony if even a fly landed on the bandage.

For a couple of centuries thousands of high-minded men suffered the tortures of gout in secret and silence rather than admit they had a malady others thought comic.

Today, say Drs. Lockie and Cooper, gout is the one form of arthritis that can be easily managed by medicine and diet.

So if you want to become the first man in your neighborhood with a distinctive disease, never mind bragging about your ulcer. Ulcers are commonplace. Gout is the thing. Gout is becoming fashionable as well as respectable.

The guy with gout may also have genius in his genes: the guy who still laughs at gout proves he is merely an uninformed dumbbell.

About 3,100 lives were lost in tornadoes, hurricanes and floods in continental United States from 1950-59.

Winning Floats In Firemen's Parade Here

The Confederate retreat from Gettysburg was depicted in the float entry of Company K, local North-South Skirmish Association unit, which won first place in the historical floats division of the Gettysburg firemen's parade Thursday night. The wounded are shown lying in a wagon filled with straw. Some of the "walking wounded" seemed to have improved upon the situation with "liberated" articles as did the man on the cannon.

The Sons of Union Veterans' camp here, a perennial victor in the historical floats division of Gettysburg's annual firemen's parade, won second place in that division with the entry showing the Irish Brigade in the Wheatfield. "Father Corby" is shown kneeling in the foreground.

The Gettysburg Lions won second place in the "beautiful floats" division of Thursday's parade with the golden lion riding a colorful float.

CHURCH-STATE LINE IS DRAWN TOO SHARPLY

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Are some people drawing the line too fine between church and state?

Methodist Bishop William T. Watkins thinks so.

Bishop Watkins, president of the Methodist Board of Hospitals and Homes, recently took issue with those who look askance at government assistance to church hospitals.

Not Against Law

First of all, he said, it's not against the law.

"Only one religious act is denied to Congress by the Constitution," he said. "It may not engage in any act which looks toward establishing a state church. That, and that alone, is prohibited."

Nor does it violate any moral principle, said the bishop.

Self-evident Principle

"Generally speaking, a moral principle is self-evident and self-validating. For example the moral principle that men ought always to speak the truth requires no explanation."

"Moral principles are like that, and anyone who would make a moral issue of accepting federal funds for hospitals or other institutions must state what moral principle is violated."

"Even casual examination of the matter will reveal no moral principle is applicable in this connection."

Only One Principle

Furthermore, said Bishop Watkins, moral principles may demand on occasion church use of government money.

"Actually," he noted, "there is but one moral principle: Whatever helps man is good and therefore moral; whatever harms men is evil and therefore immoral."

"Those who have scruples about the use of federal funds must face this question:

"Which is the greater evil, to refuse federal aid and thereby have no hospital to relieve a desperate situation or to accept federal aid, thereby relieving suffering men and women, but sacrificing your scruples."

"Moral demand requires that we relieve suffering humanity."

ZETTLE SENDS SPRAY NOTICE

The second tomato spray information letter by county agent Frank Zettle has been sent to growers in the area advising them that the late blight is present in small areas in a number of potato fields in Adams, York, Lancaster, Lehigh and Schuylkill Counties.

Zettle cautioned that control of early blight, gray leaf spot and anthracnose is necessary in all potato fields at this time.

"If late blight starts on tomatoes in your area, the interval between sprays should be reduced to seven days and thorough coverage is essential," Zettle wrote.

Spray Materials

Farmers spraying should use maneb 80 per cent WP at 3 pounds per acre, the agent instructed. Maneb residues are legal even when sprayed the day of harvest.

Zettle said that if bacterial spot is present in a field, fixed copper at 6 pounds per acre or Bordeaux mixture 8-4-100 will reduce the spread. This is the only condition for which copper materials are recommended since they have very little value in the control of anthracnose, he added.

For an early July spray, add TDE (rhotane) 50 per cent WP at the rate of 2 pounds per 100 gallons for hornworm control, he concluded.

Charge Trio Sold Trucker Pep Pills

CARLISLE, Pa. (AP)—State police have arrested three men on charges of selling so-called pep pills to truck drivers.

They are Casper Lloyd, 41; his brother, Harry Lloyd, 38, and Guy S. Kuhn, 48, all attendants at a Carlisle service station.

State police, accompanied by federal drug agents, arrested the men at their homes Thursday. Cpl. George Collitt said 8,500 amphetamine tablets were confiscated at Casper Lloyd's home and another 7,000 at Kuhn's home.

They were released under $500 bond each after waiving a hearing before a justice of the peace on charges of violating Pennsylvania's Dangerous Drug Act. They are accused of unauthorized sale of restricted drugs, a misdemeanor.

Let's Look At The Record

THE GREAT EX

Jackpine Joe Says Truman Is Greatest
Thinks Sen. Johnson Has Inside Track

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D.
President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

"TRUMAN is naming his party's Prez'densul candidate without even goin' to convention. Truman's the greatest Ex. in American hist'ry."

These pontifications were from Jackpine Joe, of Cutover, Minn., as he slid into the best chair in the office and reached for the stray cigar a visiting alumnus, announcing a new baby, had left on my desk.

"Joe, aren't you covering a lot of historical territory?"

"I was aimin to Course you historians always gabble about George Washington every time I mention greatness, so I've checked him."

"Washington was great enough for me, anyway you take him!"

"But what's his record as an Ex? Just farming and visiting neighbors! That's no public record for a White House Ex."

"And look at John Adams and Thomas Jefferson," Joe continued. "They just buried their political hatchets and organized themselves a two-man Mutual Administration Society; writin' one another kind words until both died, the same day, about twenty years out of office."

"Joe, you must have had a long, cold winter in Cutover for you to have done all that reading."

"Don't try to change the subject, Doc. That's a favorite trick of school teachers and newspaper men when they see they are about to lose an argument. I was sayin' Truman's the . . ."

"All right, all right. But what are you going to do about ex-Presidents James Madison, later president of the University of Virginia, and John Quincy Adams? He served 16 years in Congress after leaving the Presidency?"

"Small stuff for an Ex. with any energy and ambition. In one of your weekly spasms, Doc, you admitted college presidents are just chore boys for smarter professors. Any Ex. from the White House could go to Congress. Tennessee sent Andrew Johnson back to Washington, a senator, and he was impeached while President."

UNDER PRESSURE, Joe admitted Mr. Truman had not had too much competition in the field of ex-Presidenting. Seven of the 33 had died in office. Others, were in advanced years or, like James K. Polk and Woodrow Wilson, had been in poor health, or died so soon after leaving office they had no chance to do anything.

For ex-President Grant's world travels and Theodore Roosevelt's post-White House, journalistic writings and big game hunting, Joe had nought but disdain.

He did admit the temper of the times were such there was little Mr. Hoover could have done other than support worthy philanthropies in his dignified retirement.

EX-PRESIDENT William H. Taft gave Joe more than passing trouble. Taft's nine-year record as chief justice of the Supreme Court, Joe admitted, was a post-presidential achievement no other had touched.

"But Taft took a demotion when he went Supreme Courtin'." Joe finally snorted in triumph. "Just look at Harry by comparison. Truman has made being an Ex. a promotion. As President he was no more than an elected king. Now, out of office, he has promoted himself to a king-maker for life!

"Adlai, Eleanor, Humphrey, the Kennedys, and all the rest just can't ignore the Old Timer," Joe added with warmth.

"Senators Symington and Johnson, along with Congressman Chester Bowles apparently have never ignored him," I suggested.

"You dern tootin' they never have," Joe agreed. "And one of them, most likely Senator Johnson, is gonna reap the fruits in Los Angeles."

"What is your line of logic on that, Joe?"

"No logic, just common sense. Harry is a smart old politician who knows the only purpose of an election is to win it. Young Kennedy has a lot of delegates but he has had to talk too much to get them; such as saying he expected no help from the South and did not want any. That sort of chatter could get the nomination now, but does it get Electoral College credits next fall? Harry thinks not; that young Kennedy can't win."

"Harry may not go to the convention but he'll be sittin' by open wires that run to all the smoke filled rooms in Los Angeles, and you can bet a new chain saw against a worn down, double-bitted axe on that," Joe concluded.

If Johnson is nominated and elected, do you think Mr. Truman would accept a top cabinet post—state or defense, for example?"

"How silly can you get?" sneered Joe. "Harry Truman visions a higher place in history, but he must work at it if he is to be written into the record as the greatest Great Ex."

KENNEDY TO FLY TODAY TO LOS ANGELES

NEW YORK (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy flies to the Democratic national convention in Los Angeles today, confident he will win the presidential nomination.

"I don't think it will be a long convention," he said Friday night on arriving here from his family's summer home on Cape Cod.

"I never said I was going to win on the first ballot," he told newsmen.

He said he had received no additional pledges of support from any delegations within the past 24 hours.

Johnson OK As VP
Told that former President Harry S. Truman had changed his mind and planned to attend the convention, the Massachusetts senator said:

"I'm delighted. He should be there. He's a great leader of the party." He said he hoped to see Truman at the convention.

Asked if he would consider Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson as a suitable vice presidential running mate, Kennedy replied:

"Certainly although I don't think he's interested in that at the moment."

Steel Layoffs Are Hurting In Penna.

HARRISBURG (AP)—Layoffs in the steel industry helped precipitate an unexpected record rise in unemployment in Pennsylvania between April and June, says the State Labor and Industry Department.

Persons out of work as of mid-June totaled 343,000, an increase of 47,000 over the previous month, the department said Friday.

Although the department expected some increase as students and other seasonal workers entered the labor market, Labor and Industry Secretary William L. Batt Jr. said:

"The sharpness of the rise was unexpected and was in fact a record rise of unemployment of any June in the fifties. It could not be attributed solely to seasonal conditions."

HUNDREDS OF OTHER ITEMS TOO NUMEROUS TO MENTION

James MARLOW Reports

The Associated Press

WASHINGTON (AP)—The only big Democrat to use a cleaver so far in his party's presidential race is former President Truman who was never renowned for subtlety.

Already he's beginning to look deserted and lonely. The only other weapons used up till now have been velvet sandbags.

Truman last week tried to chop Sen. John F. Kennedy's presidential chances to bits by implying the Massachusetts senator's supporters were rigging the Democratic National Convention which opens next week.

It was a sensation for a moment but began to resemble a frustrated whisper as one after another of the top Democrats sought to disentangle themselves from any connection with Truman's charges.

Florida's Gov. LeRoy Collins, convention chairman, denied any rigging. Paul M. Butler, in charge of convention arrangements because he's chairman of the Democratic National Committee, also said it wasn't so.

And even the two men who figured to gain most by Truman's charges if they were true—Sens. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas and Stuart Symington of Missouri—left Truman standing by himself.

Rivals Deny Charge
The two are Kennedy's leading rivals for the nomination. Symington is Truman's personal choice for it, although Eleanor Roosevelt says Truman really is on Johnson's side.

This week Symington said, "there has been nothing to indicate to me there has been any rigging." He said to the best of his knowledge his people had been treated fairly on convention arrangements.

This left it up to Johnson to trail along with Truman or disown his charges. Johnson, never a simple man, seemed to be on Truman's side and suddenly he didn't seem to be.

Johnson Changes

The day after Truman had his say on Kennedy, Johnson leaped in on Truman's side, saying he agreed with the former president and accusing Butler of failing to consult him on convention arrangements. At that time, Johnson had not yet publicly admitted he was even a candidate for the Democratic nomination.

But for lack of support Truman's attack on Kennedy began to look like a pale rider on a pale horse. By the time Johnson got around to announcing two days later he was a candidate, he had no complaint to make.

He was asked that day if he was going to cite a single instance of rigging—this was the lanky Texan's big chance both to back up Truman and to help demolish Kennedy by citing some evidence of a fix, if he had it.

Gentle Cousins
But Johnson's answer was no. All three contenders—Kennedy, Johnson, Symington—have been more or less as gentle as cousins on each other, except in a back-handed way.

Symington, in fact, has stayed so far back in the picture he's been almost out of it. His only hope for the nomination is that Kennedy and Johnson will knock each other out and there'll be nobody left but him.

When Kennedy on July 4 answered Truman, by denying any knowledge of a fix, he stressed the need for a healthy young president. This could have been taken as a dig at Johnson who had a heart attack in 1955.

Health Issue
That's just how some of Johnson's top aides took it and responded at one with a look who's talking kind of complaint. They said Kennedy hadn't always been so healthily bouncy.

Whether or not they did this with Johnson's approval is not known. The Johnson forces might be able to damage Kennedy if his aides attacked him while Johnson remained a symbol of sweetness and light.

At any rate, when Johnson finally announced his candidacy he not only didn't raise any questions about Kennedy's health but went so far as to say Kennedy had demonstrated he didn't have any health problems.

George Washington, while on a trip to Philadelphia in June 30, 1791, stopped at the Adam Good Tavern in "Tawnytown," as he spelled it in his diary.

Today, living in the old tavern, but since remodeled and restored, is The Gettysburg Times correspondent for the Taneytown area, Mrs. Flora Leister.

In Washington's day, the tavern was owned, run, and named after Adam Good, who was also the first postmaster of Taneytown in 1795.

The first Chief Executive wrote in his diary: "I set off this morning a little after four o'clock in the prosecution of my journey towards Philadelphia, dined at one Cookerlys (New Midway), 13 miles off and lodged at Tawnytown only 12 miles farther . . . Tawnytown is but a small place with only the street through which the road passes, the buildings principally of wood . . . The site of the tavern today is on Frederick St. and one is likely to miss the brass plaque which marks the house.

George and Martha Washington are supposed to have eaten "mush and milk" at the inn and the table they ate at was "in the possession of Mrs. John McKelip for a long time afterward."

Fishermen Should Follow Safety Tips, Avoid Many Injuries That Ruin Fun

"Gone Fishin'."

Bing Crosby made the song popular years ago. A nation with lots of leisure time on its hands has made the sport—fishing—one of today's more popular summer pastimes.

The National Safety Council estimates that more than 30 million Americans—about one out of every five persons strong enough to hold a fishing pole or cast a line into the water—will go fishing this year. Fishermen should think of safety so their fun won't be spoiled by an accident. Unfortunately, the unwary do get hurt or, worse, killed.

Fishing Toll

More than 900 drownings a year involve boats with a capacity of fewer than 10 persons. This would include boats that carry fishermen to their favorite spot.

And while the toll of persons injured in fishing accidents is unknown, the Council reports that a "large number of persons are injured each year from careless handling of fishing tackle."

From Ralph Kuhl, the Council's director of public safety, come these tips for fishermen:

Dangers Of Hooks
On the dangers of hooks—

1. Try not to carry fishing lines with hooks attached.

2. Don't fish too near other anglers.

3. Be careful casting your line.

Handle With Care

4. Handle with special care bait-casting plugs that contain clusters of double or triple hooks.

5. If a hook gets imbedded in you or one of your fishing companions, see a physician, unless you're sure the wound is extremely minor.

6. Try never to back a hook out of a wound. It's best to push the point of the hook through the skin.

On Wading—

1. Test each step in advance. Many streams and pools have underwater shelves or other drop-offs.

2. Remember that flat, underwater rocks usually are slippery.

On Boat Safety—

1. Check your boat for leaks or other defects before leaving shore.

2. Take along life preservers, an extra oar or paddle and a bailing can.

3. Don't overload the boat.

4. Never stand in a boat or sit or stand on the bow or stern.

5. Be cautious about changing places in a boat while in deep water. Better to come into shallow water first.

If your boat capsizes?

"Stick to it," Kuhl said. "Even most small boats will support several persons for hours. Keep calm. Wait for help to arrive rather than try to swim to shore."

ANNOUNCE NEW HEATING UNIT

The products of two famous names in heating for the anthracite burning regions have been combined into a precision engineered, commercial size boiler unit to provide the ultimate in low cost automatic coal heating. Architects and engineers can now specify a quality "package unit" with correct and easy installation, and assuring the building owner of years of safe, dependable, low cost, trouble-free heating.

Operating efficiency of the Losch-Spencer unit is high and the added heating surface of the water-cooled grate actually increases listed boiler ratings 10 to 15%.

The Losch-Spencer automatic boiler units burn low cost anthracite rice or barley coal and, with the unique peaked firebox design and boiler construction, offers maximum heat transfer and overall efficiency. The water-cooled grates and the boilers are built to A.S.M.E. code, inspected and approved.

In addition to a large range of sizes, Losch-Spencer units are equipped with many tank and tankless domestic water heaters and are suited where operations demand large quantities of domestic hot water.

The United States grows about 180,000 acres of strawberries with an annual crop value of about 33 million dollars.

CONVENTION BRIEFS

LOS ANGELES (AP) — James A. Farley, veteran Democratic warhorse of the Roosevelt era, offers this definition of a "rigged convention":

"A political convention is always rigged when the other fellows are in control and it is open when your delegates are in control."

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Mayor Norris Poulson of Los Angeles got quite a laugh at a pre-Democratic convention civic luncheon when he was introduced as "a man who always gives visiting dignitaries a warm welcome."

The reference Friday was to Poulson's now famous "we will bury you" comment that infuriated Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev during the Russian leader's visit.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — More than 60 pounds of typed and duplicated material — containing an estimated quarter of a million words — were laid before the Democratic platform committee.

This was in addition to a much larger amount supplied by an estimated 900 groups which appeared before regional meetings earlier.

Platform hearings ended Friday night.

HERTER, DILLON CONFER TODAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, back from a week's vacation, confers with Undersecretary Douglas Dillon today on the Cuban crisis in preparation for a policy meeting Monday with President Eisenhower.

Herter returned from his summer home at Manchester, Mass., Friday night in order to get a first hand report prior to Dillon's departure this afternoon for a European trip.

Herter also expected to be brought up to date on two other situations — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's threat to set off a new Berlin crisis next September and rioting in the Congo republic. According to State Department reports, 2,000 U. S. citizens in the Congo so far have escaped injury.

The State Department was still awaiting clarification of the Mexican government's attitude on the U. S. row with the Cuban regime of Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

A statement late Friday night by a close friend of Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos was certain to raise further questions.

Mexican Senate Leader Manuel Moreno Sanchez told newsmen in Guadalajara that Mexico must provide Cuba with oil. Moreno Sanchez said Cuba is facing a "social and human crisis" and that Mexico could not remain indifferent. He said "it is not a matter of trade . . . it is entirely a social and human catastrophe."

Residents Balk Parking Meter Plan

AMBRIDGE, Pa. (AP) — Residents of Glenwood Avenue are out to stop the installation of parking meters in front of their homes by hook or by crook.

A group of the residents blocked workmen from installing 30 such meters Friday by sitting over foundation holes dug for the meters. On Monday, the residents plan to submit some 70 petitions to a borough council meeting protesting the meters.

One resident said he and his neighbors are protesting the meters mainly because they don't like the idea of paying to park in front of their own home.
